Human Skeleton Dis-articulated	NLAB-EDUSCHOOLEQ76002

Description :

Human Skeleton Dis-articulated

Technical Specification :

The identification of individual bones is easy enough for students using a fully constructed skeleton, but can your students recognize a femur on its own.

With these disarticulated skeletons, students will learn how to identify all of the major bones with ease.

For increased study options, the painted disarticulated skeletons feature muscle origins and insertions, allowing for visual correlations between muscle and bone.

As an added bonus, many of our disarticulated skeletons have free Ground shipping available in the contiguous
